POISON.—NOTICE.—The neighbour who destroyed my imported spaniel "Rex," is requested, in the interest of the survivors, to exercise some LITTLE discretion in the disposition of his deadly strychnine baits, if done inadvertently; and to accept this intimation of my regret that I am not in possession of evidence yet which would enable me to appeal through a different channel.

W. J. COCKS, 205, Macquarie-street North.

ADVERTISEMENT.—I observe, through the HERALD of Thursday last, Mr. DE SALIS asserts that he had sheep on his station at 12 lbs., and had offered them at 11s, and it would take 1s for delivery of them to market. I am prepared to give him 17s (seventeen shillings) per head for fat sheep averaging 52 lbs. delivered in Sydney, thus making an increase of price to him of 5s per head, taking 3000 a week until we are enabled to import them from other colonies. My buyers have been in all directions unsuccessful—sheep not fit for market, and unable to travel; which shows the necessity of getting sheep from other ports, as there are no fat sheep to be obtained in this colony. The mutton with which Sydney has been supplied for the last few weeks has been very inferior, and hardly fit for consumption.

If Mr. De Salis will accept my offer, I shall be glad to enter into a written contract with him.

THE AMERICAN (WALTHAM) WATCH COMPANY possess the only factory in the world where a complete watch is made under one roof; and having already sold over 850,000 of their celebrated watches, are now endeavouring to meet the increasing demand, by producing them, through the aid of their extensive plant of machinery, at the rate of 100,000 a year! They are thus enabled to maintain, at all times, an ample selection of Gold and Silver Lever Watches at their London depôt, Waltham-buildings, Holborn Circus, E.C., where amongst those specially suited to the English market, will be found.

THE "RAILWAY WATCH," so called for its proverbial accuracy as a time-keeper, and adaptability to the requirements of travellers, and those actively employed.

THE "ARTISAN'S WATCH," manufactured expressly to suit the requirements of the working man, so constructed as to be free from the ordinary liabilities to injury by accident, and, from its simple mechanism, repaired—if ever necessary—at a trifling cost.

THE "EQUESTRIAN'S WATCH," constructed to avert the mechanical derangement so frequently produced in watches by the jolting and oscillation inseparable from "a seat in the saddle."

FOR ACCURACY OF PERFORMANCE, each and all of the above will be found to EQUAL THE MOST COSTLY WATCH manufactured upon the old principle still adopted by the English makers.

LAW.

SUPREME COURT.—FRIDAY, JUNE 23.

IN BANCO.

BEFORE their Honors the CHIEF JUSTICE, Mr. Justice HARGRAVE, and Sir WILLIAM MANNING.

CHISHOLM v. RICHARDSON.

Mr. Salomons, for the plaintiff, moved to set aside or vary an order of Mr. Justice Hargrave, made in Chambers.

It appeared that the plaintiff sued Messrs. Richardson and Wrench for money in their hands, being a deposit paid by the plaintiff on the purchase of a piece of land, of which the title, according to the plaintiff, turned out to be defective. The defendants, upon the service of process upon them, took out an interpleader summons, and thereunder applied for an order which was granted by his Honor Mr. Justice Hargrave, whereby Mr. Moore, the vendor of the land, was ordered to be the defendant in the stead of Messrs. Richardson and Wrench. On behalf of the plaintiff it was contended that such an order could not be made under the circumstances unless the original defendants were ordered to give security for costs, as the substituted defendant, Moore, was not a person of means, it being deposed that he owned only the property in question.

Mr. Butler, Q.C., for the defendants, appeared in support of the order, and, as a preliminary objection, objected to the motion being heard, as Moore, one of the parties before the Judge when the order was made, had not been served with the rule.

The following cases were cited during the arguments:—Deller v. Prickett, 20 L. J. Q. B., 151; Lush's Practice, 774, Ridgeway v. Jones, 29 L. J. Q. B., 97; Tanner v. European Bank, L. R. 1 Exch., 261; Pritchett v. Edney, 4 Bing. N. C., 721.

The COURT by majority varied the order. The defendants were ordered to give security for costs to the plaintiff within fourteen days, otherwise the original interpleader order was to be discharged.

The CHIEF JUSTICE said: There was nothing in the preliminary objection. A number of cases had been cited which did not establish more than that the order as to costs in such matters was in the direction of the Judge granting the order. As to whether or not the original defendant would be ordered to give security depended on the circumstances of each case. In some cases security for costs would be ordered, no such order would be made in other cases. It appeared to be a matter within the discretion of the Judge or of the Court. The present was a case of a vendee and a firm of auctioneers, and the action was for the recovery of a sum of money paid as deposit on the sale of some real property. In such a case the vendee would know nothing of the vendor as to his solvency, &c., but would be know if the title of the property sold would be a good one, he would purchase on the representations of the auctioneer, whom he might assume would know something about the title, and also about the vendor. To the auctioneer the deposit would be paid, and to him the vendee would be entitled to look for its return if the contract of sale for any reason were not carried out and performed. An action for the deposit would lie, and when such an action was brought it was open for the defendant to supply to a Judge under the Interpleader Act, and the Judge might direct the person who employed the auctioneer (the vendor) for whom the deposit was received, to be substituted as defendant in the auctioneer's stead. Would it be fair, then, or just, to direct the vendor, possibly a man of no means, to be substituted for the auctioneer, with whom the plaintiff contracted without also directing the auctioneer to give security for costs? Why should the auctioneer be relieved altogether from his responsibility? He sold the property and received the deposit on the presumption that the contract would be performed. Between the vendee and the vendor there was no privity; each contracted with the auctioneer. The case of an auctioneer was very different from the cases cited on behalf of the defendants, where the defendants were not similarly situated. It appeared to his Honor that if from the evidence it might be inferred that the vendor was a man of no means, or not a responsible person, that it would only be fair to allow the defendants to be released from their position on giving the plaintiff security for the costs of the action. The case of Deller v. Prickett should be followed. The order of Mr. Justice Hargrave then would be varied by adding thereto the terms, that Messrs Richardson and Wrench should give to the plaintiff security for the costs of the action, in case a verdict should pass for the plaintiff; the security to be given within fourteen days, otherwise the original order for the interpleader would be discharged.

Mr. Justice HARGRAVE said the Interpleader Act was passed for the relief of parties placed in the position of the defendants in the present case, where two different persons were each claiming money or goods which they (the defendants) had in their hands as mere bailees. As the statute was remedial it should be advanced in every way, and the defendants according, should be allowed the benefit of the act, without being made responsible for the costs the plaintiff might choose to incur. His Honor was of opinion that the order made in Chambers was the right one, and that it should not be varied.

Sir WILLIM MANNING thought that upon both authority and principle the defendants should be ordered to give security for costs. By mean of the nature the defendants would be relieved of one action and so they would feel its benefits. Deller v. Truckett was in point and should be followed.

APPEALS IN EQUITY.

Before their Honors the CHIEF JUSTICE, Mr. Justice HARGRAVE, and Mr. Justice FAUCETT.

IN RE GENERAL MOLTKE GOLD MINING COMPANY.

Appeal of two subscribing shareholders—Messrs. Kinlock and Kellerman.

The arguments were not concluded when the Court rose.

INSOLVENCY COURT.

MONDAY.

BEFORE the CHIEF COMMISSIONER.

In the matter of William Clare, a special meeting, Thomas Clare was examined by Mr. S. C. Brown, on behalf of a creditor, and deposed in effect that he was a brother of William Clare, the insolvent, and had had transactions with him; his brother was in a situation with two brothers named Southam at Gratton; his father, Thomas Clare, died in 1859; his stepmother died in September, 1875; his brother and he received some property in Bathurst-street on their father's death; there was some money left, but nothing that he knew of; the property was let this year in Bathurst-street for £145!; witness got his share; his brother got very little—he owed it all; he received payment of £331; the property was mortgaged; his brother told him he got £90; his brother owed money to different persons; his brother got part of the furniture and some money from his mother's estate; he had a sister at Balmain, who also got a portion of his mother's estate. The meeting was adjourned.

In the matter of the Parramatta River Steam Company, Mr. Manning, on behalf of the official liquidator, submitted an offer of compromise by Mr. C. E. Jeanneret in respect of 702 shares, for which he had been settled on the list as a contributory. The offer was to pay £1000 cash, and £1000 in five approved promissory notes of £200 each, at three, six, twelve, eighteen, twenty-four, and thirty months, and to withdraw all claims. No cause was shown against the offer, the opposition having been withdrawn. His Honor said that the offer was very different from what was before made, and with the explanation Mr. Manning had given with regard to the appeal which appeared in the Court list of the Supreme Court, which made it doubtful whether it was right that he should take the case, it seemed to him that the acceptance of the offer was the best thing that could possibly be done. He therefore ratified the compromise.

In the matter of Edwin Butler, an adjourned examination meeting. Josiah Perry was examined by Mr. Johnston, on behalf of the official assignee, and deposed that previous to May, 1874, insolvent was a debtor of his firm; William Perry, Jonathan Stevens Perry, and himself, were the members of the firm; in May, 1874, the insolvent owed his firm something under £2000; insolvent had a good many other creditors, he got a document from insolvent showing something of his position; insolvent's books showed liabilities to the amount of £7000 a month after May, he produced an agreement signed by Mr. Butler and the members of his firm, it was signed by Mr. Butler on May 27, 1874; he remembered insolvent saying that that agreement was a nullity because he had not signed it; he remembered going with Mr. Butler to the Commercial Bank in Goulburn, it was about June, 1875; neither he nor his brothers had signed it then; he believed these signatures were affixed a few days afterwards; a good deal of correspondence took place about the matter; Butler told them he felt he was unable to carry on his business properly, and wanted them to buy the business; the firm bought it, Mr. Butler continued about the place, but they looked to Mrs. Butler to manage the business; insolvent was permitted by him to sign cheques, but did not act as his manager; Mrs. Butler was appointed manager; after the agreement, his firm claimed the business as theirs; they continued to supply goods to the business after May, 1874; the insolvent's account at the bank went on as usual; money was paid into the bank to the credit of Edwin Butler, and cheques and other documents were drawn in his name, no statement was made to the bank of a change; the name on the shop was altered from "Edwin Butler" to "Butler and Co.," after the 27th May; Mrs. Butler really represented the Butler, and his firm represented the company; about six months after the sale of the business there was an agreement between himself and Mrs. Butler, who was his sister, and Mr. Benson, who was insolvent's son-in-law; they were to divide the profits of the business between them; his firm had really no profit out of the business; he was not aware that insolvent disputed his firm's position; they agreed to give insolvent back his stock if he paid his indebtedness to the firm; his firm treated Butler's business as the firm's business; Mrs. Butler usually selected the goods as a stranger, and they were entered in the books against her in the usual way; the accounts produced were a transcript of his books; instead of insolvent selling his firm £22,000 worth of property, as he had stated, the document produced, under insolvent's own hand, showed that the amount was only £8922; he produced a statement of the account with insolvent in May, 1874; also a statement of the account for May, 1875; all these were copied from the books; Mr. Butler said something about the agreement being inoperative, because his firm had not signed it; he sent an apology to pacify insolvent for what had occurred at the bank; Mr. Butler did not contend that the business was his; witness made the apology without prejudice to his position; he produced an agreement, dated 9th June, between insolvent and William Perry and Co., by which the business was formally transferred to his firm; Mr. Gannon, insolvent's solicitor, drew it up; his brother Jonathan Stevens Perry negotiated that agreement; his brother left for England in February last; his brother told him that Mr. Butler was getting troublesome, and it was necessary to make this arrangement; there had been a previous arrangement that Mr. Butler should keep the books and be paid £4 per week; insolvent was paid under that agreement; the business was fairly prosperous between December, 1874, and February, 1876; as far as his firm knew it might have been paying in June, 1875; in February, 1876, his firm conveyed the balance of property to Mrs. Butler; there was a house valued at £2000, and cash to the value of £1380; the house was the property of Mr. Butler up to May, 1874; his firm bought the house in consideration of paying the liabilities of Butler; they charged interest when interest became due; the document produced showed a statement in their books of Butler's account at 31st December, 1875; the stock was taken at cost price; his firm sold Stilling and Lane the business in February, 1876; Stilling and Lane did not pay his firm any money; they agreed to pay £7372 for the business; Stilling and Lane gave his firm a bill-of-sale; the contract of sale and the bill-of-sale were the only documents in that transaction; Mr. Lane was the son of another sister of his; he was nineteen years of age; Mr. Stilling was in no way connected with his business in Sydney before the sale; Mr. Lane was employed in the premises of Butler and Co., at Goulburn; Mr. Stilling was also employed in that business; his firm offered to start these two persons in the business; his firm had a lease of the shop, and Stilling and Lane took the premises off them; Mr. Stilling was not a debtor of his firm at the time he bought the business; the document produced was the agreement of sale; his firm were not to charge Stilling and Lane any commission; they supplied Stilling and Lane with goods in the same way as strangers; he did not think there was a stipulation that Stilling and Lane should not buy from any other firm; when they took over the business of insolvent, they paid off the insolvent's overdraft at the bank, and kept the account in funds; he made over the property to trustees for the benefit of Mrs. Butler, because she was his sister; in June, 1875, his brother might have told Mr. Butler that he would retransfer the business to him if he paid off all claims of his firm; there was a condition to that effect in the agreement of the 9th June; the insolvent was to pay the money to claim his business by the 12th June; in his opinion the insolvent was insane at the time; on the 12th June, about midday, he took steps to put him in the asylum; Mr. Learmonth and Mr. Jamison advised him not to see the insolvent as he was in a dreadfully excited state; he had heard that others had said so; he had heard and that on the 9th June a certificate of insolvent's insanity from a medical man had been applied for in Goulburn, but was not obtained; Mr. Butler had been acting strangely at Goulburn; he got Mr. Beeby, one of his cognovis, to get two medical men to see the insolvent; he believed he told a medical man in the counting-house to tell Mr. Beeby to do this; this was about 2 o'clock on the 12th; his brother Jonathan and he determined to get medical men to examine Mr. Butler; he believed Beeby, with another person, went to get the doctors to examine Mr. Butler; he believed the other person was Mr. Nettleton, who was married to a sister of his; Dr. Quaife and Dr. M'Donough were the doctors who examined insolvent; he signed the documents; he was not present when the doctors examined Mr. Butler in his office; he had been advised not to see him; Mr. Butler had been communicated with; Mrs. Butler made the application for the removal of Mr. Butler from Gladesville to Cook's River; the Colonial Secretary wrote to him on the subject, stating that Cook's River would be a more suitable place; when Butler went to Gladesville witness made application that he should have special privileges; he did not know that Butler was allowed great liberty at Gladesville; when Butler came out of the asylum Mrs. Butler wanted to leave the business without notice, and his firm agreed to that; they gave Mr. Benson £300 for an assumed profit on his agreeing to retire; he paid the cheque and charged that against the estate; there was no similar amount paid to Mrs. Butler; there was an assumed profit when he gave Benson the £300, but they found that there was no profit; if he had known that before he would not have paid Benson the £300; Butler signed a release after he came out of the asylum; the business at Goulburn, after giving over the house and the sum of money to Mrs. Butler, stood in their books as something over £710 against his firm; when Mr. Butler came out of the asylum his firm offered to hand over the business to him for the exact amount against it in his books; Butler refused that; the goods were sold by his firm to Mrs. Butler at a profit of from 5 to 33 per cent.; they were not sold to her at retail prices; the £1300 and odd surplus was ascertained when stock was taken in February, 1875; he allowed Mrs. Butler interest on that; he did not recollect that he had said that he should oppose Mr. Butler starting again by supporting Stilling and Lane, though he might have said that he would support Stilling and Lane. The examination terminated.

In the matter of Arthur Willis, an examination meeting. Henry Statham, instructed by Mr. C. S. Jones, on behalf of creditors, deposed that he purchased on behalf of Mrs. Bettington certain fittings from Mr. Sandeman, the official assignee of John Manning Hazeland; he produced the sale note; the stock in the schedule was in the ship when he took possession to the best of his belief; there was a bar and bar fittings and other things; there were some chairs and other things removed by Mrs. Willis under some claim; there were many new things; they were removed six weeks back; he should think the goods removed were of the value of £200 or £300; there must have been £100 worth of wines, spirits, and other stock, when he took possession; the official assignee of Hazeland claimed £12 worth of the property; it was claimed because it was not included in the bill of sale to Hazeland. The further examination was adjourned until Wednesday.

Sixty-five persons were brought before the Bench charged with having been found drunk in public places. Fifty-one were apprehended between 6 a.m. of Saturday and 6 a.m. of Sunday, and fourteen during the ensuing twenty-four hours. Of the whole number charged fifty-seven were fined and eighteen were admonished.

Mary Ann Hill pleaded guilty to having been found drunk, and was fined 20s.; she was also charged with using obscene language, in respect of which she was sentenced to pay 40s., or to be imprisoned one month. The apprehending constable then charged her with having wilfully and maliciously destroyed his uniform trousers, she tried to bite his leg, but her teeth only took hold of his trousers, which she tore. The Bench found the defendant guilty, and assessed the damages at 15s., which they ordered her to pay, or in default to be imprisoned three days.

George Francis was fined 2s 6d., and Charles Woods and John Adams 10s. each, for disorderly conduct in public places.

She said that she might have used the words, but had no recollection of them. Complainant said that the woman is labouring under a delusion which causes her to annoy both him and his family. Ordered to enter into a recognizance with two sureties in £5 each to keep the peace three months, or in default of such sureties to be imprisoned one month.

Before Mr. Smart.

Sarah Gray and Bridget Kerrigan were brought before the Bench on Saturday by constable Sproule, who deposed that between 12 and 1 o'clock on that morning he saw her and a woman named Kerrigan, stop several men in Castlereagh-street; he apprehended them and charged them as idle and disorderly persons, without either fixed abode or lawful means of support. They both alleged that they had means of support, and asked for a remand to call evidence to that effect. They were remanded until to-day, when constables Brown and Butler were put into the box to prove that the women had been convicted of, and punished for sundry offences. Grey called Benjamin Martin, a digger, who deposed that they have been for some weeks living together as man and wife, and that for some time previously he had been sending her money for her support, but not regularly for two years past; she has had £9 from him within two months; they (prisoner and he) live in her sister's house. Bridget Kerrigan failed to adduce any evidence in defence. Kerrigan was sentenced to be imprisoned and kept to hard labour for a period of five months; and Gray for a period of six months.

On the summons paper were ten cases, of which two were discharged and one was not prosecuted. In Ashton v. Sherlock, Dunn v. Allen, Coveny v. Small, and Fleming v. Donnell, undefended proceedings under the Tenants' Act, a seven days' warrant of possession was granted in each. Ann Lutson was fined 5s. for assaulting Mary Walsh. In Mary Curtois v. Two cases of theft were tried, but they were both withdrawn.

The case against Charles M'Innes, referred to in our issue of Saturday, was withdrawn.

CORONER'S INQUEST.

YESTERDAY forenoon the City Coroner held at the Observer Tavern, George-street North, an inquest touching the death of James White, who had been found drowned on Saturday evening.

Mary Schustama, a boarding-house keeper at No. 16, King-street, deposed that deceased was an Irishman, and about 40 years of age, and a single man; he was by trade a lab urer; she had known him for about six or seventeen years; at times he drank to excess; latterly he had given way to drink, and that was the reason why he had to leave her house as a boarder about a month ago; he told her a week ago that he was stopping at the Ship Inn, Sussex-street; she last saw him alive, she thought, about 9 o'clock on on Friday night outside her door, lying on the footpath; he seemed to be very drunk; she saw him get up but not go away; her house was about sixty or seventy yards from the water.

Maria Morgan, barmaid at the Patent Slip Hotel, deposed that she saw deceased about 8 o'clock on last Friday night at the bar; he was drunk; she saw him leave the place alone.

Thomas Johnston, labourer, at the Patent Slip Wharf, deposed that about 6 o'clock on Saturday morning he was walking down to the Patent Slip Wharf to see if the punts were all right, and as he was proceeding along he saw something lying on the water which he could not clearly make out; he went up to his work, when Mr. Johnston called his attention to it; on going up to it he observed that it was the body of a drowned man; the body was lying no distance in, and the water was very shallow; he was lying on his face in the mud, the water having gone out. It being low tide; he went up to the Central Police-station and informed the police of his discovery, and sergeant-constable Porter returned to the place with him, but when witness arrived there he found another constable (Murphy) there, who was taking the body out.

Dr. Nolan gave it as his opinion that death had resulted from suffocation by drowning.

The jury returned an open verdict of "Found drowned."

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

On the business paper for Tuesday there are seven questions to be asked of Ministers, seventeen orders of the day (the first of which is the consideration in committee of the whole of Mr Parkes's resolutions respecting the surplus revenue, and the following notices of motion, which take precedence of the orders:—

Fleming as to the value of some land taken for railway purposes near Newcastle, is not a proper person to be allowed to act as umpire in a case in which the interests of the public are concerned, in so far that, whilst a member of this House and of the Maitland Road Trust, he was accused, by Mr. S. Scholer of appropriating part of the public money voted for the use of the said Road Trust to his own use, and never disproved the charge. 2. That the Joseph Eckford who is appointed to act as arbitrator in above case, is not a fit person to act as arbitrator for the Government, from his want of knowledge of value of land and other local interests. 3. That the above resolutions be communicated by address to his Excellency the Governor.

Mr. W. M. Sutter to move,—1. Mr. M'Elhone to move,—That the matter of the supply or sale of Greville's Post Office Directory to the Government be referred to the Committee of Elections and Qualifications, to inquire into, consider, and report to this House as to whether Mr. Edward Greville, the sitting member for Braidwood, is disqualified for that seat, he is a contractor within the 28th section of the Constitution Act, and to report specially whether or not Mr. Edward Greville, the member for Braidwood, has committed a breach of the 28th or 29th sections of the Act 18th and 19th Victoria, cap. 54, and whether he is disqualified under the 22nd Victoria, No. 20, section 74.

Captain Onslow to move,—1. Whereas there are several persons in the colony following the profession of medicine who have no diplomas, and who have not studied at any hospital or other place where opportunities exist to learn such profession, it is desirable, for the benefit of the public, that a list of duly qualified medical practitioners be exhibited half-yearly at every post-office and courthouse in the colony. 2. That the above resolution be communicated by address to his Excellency the Governor.

Mr. Parkes to move,—That the adoption of the report from the committee of the whole on the Fire Brigades Bill stand an order of the day for Friday next.

LUNATIC REEF.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

ON Tuesday morning last a digger named Joseph Hennan, but more generally known in the neighbourhood by the name of "Dirty Joe," was found dead outside his hut at Pretty Gully. Mr. Farly, the local storekeeper, at once went to give information to the nearest constable, who resides at Fairfield, forty miles away. The constable was absent on duty, and as there is no magistrate resident within forty-five miles, Mr. Farly took the only course possible under the circumstances—that of calling together the whole male population of the district, and holding an impromptu inquiry into the circumstances of the death. The following evidence was taken:—Joseph Hannett said: I am a miner, residing at Pretty Gully; on passing the hut occupied by "Dirty Joe," this morning, I saw him lying on his back, with his feet towards the door; he was then quite dead; he did not seem to have been dead long, as the body was not quite cold; I called three brothers named Hanson, who live near, and with their help placed the body in the hut; there were no marks of violence on the body; I was at Mr. Farly's store last night with the deceased; I have never known deceased to quarrel with any one. The brothers Hanson confirmed the evidence of Hannett in every particular. Nothing was found in the hut except 5 dwts. 6 grs. of gold, wrapped in a rag, and an old bucket. It was unanimously decided that the deceased died from natural causes, and that the body should be buried. The above is a curious illustration of life on some of our outlying gold-fields. One would fain hope that such cases were not common, but we find almost every day instances which show that such a wretched life and miserable death are not uncommon. The few instances of success in the search for the precious metal must be balanced by the far more numerous cases of failure, and then comes the result, the friendless solitary death.

In mining matters I have nothing to report except that the machine is busy crushing some stone from Gay's. The manager hopes now to continue crushing without being compelled to wait for stone to be raised. There are also besides, several lots of stone waiting to be operated upon as opportunities serve, and the various claim owners hope to have good returns. I hope in another week to be able to give some account of the result of the crushing.—June 17.

HUNDRED MILES RACE.—A horse race of a novel character (the Border Post tells us) will come off next week at Howlong. Mr. John Everett's brown gelding, Viking, aged, is matched to run, over the local racecourse, 8 st. up, a distance of 100 miles against Mr. E. Brown's chestnut horse, Jack Sullivan, aged, for £30 a side. The cash is staked; both men and horses will start at 6 a.m. on Tuesday next, and continue the journey until noon, when half-an-hour will be devoted to rest and feeding. The remainder of the journey will be resumed at 12.30 p.m., and the first who accomplishes the feat will be declared the winner, if the weight turns the scale. Much excitement prevails in the locality, and we have no doubt that there will be a large number on the ground to witness such a singular event.

PUBLIC SCHOOL LEAGUE.

A PUBLIC meeting in connection with the Public School League was held yesterday evening, at the Masonic Hall. Owing to the inclemency of the weather the attendance was very small. Mr. F. J. Thomas occupied the chair. On the platform were the Revs. Dr. Lang, J. G. Kirby, Dr. Barry, Messrs. J. Stewart, J. R. Linsley, and B. Rhodes.

The CHAIRMAN briefly explained the objects of the meeting, and said he thought, considering the inclemency of the weather, the meeting was well attended. According to the last report of the Council, the gross enrolment of children in the Public schools of the colony was 104,446, out of a population of 606,132. Whereas, in the neighbouring colony of Victoria, they had 138,380 children enrolled, out of a population of 815,000. Our gross enrolment was about 18 per cent. of the population. They had succeeded in getting about one-fourth of the whole population of the colony into the State schools of Victoria. If our enrolment was in the same proportion to the population as the gross enrolment in Victoria, we should have 163,758 children. Even in Victoria they had not overtaken the educational requirements of the colony. And with regard to this colony, the League did not overrate our deficiency when it said, "It is estimated that in this colony one-third of the children of school age are receiving no education." Nearly every civilized country on the face of the globe was introducing the principle of compulsion. Again, the League thought the minimum of instruction under the compulsory system should be free of charge to the children; that the cost should be defrayed out of the general revenue of the colony, or by indirect taxation. They were opposed to the Denominational system, because they believed it to be a wasteful system, and only tended to create illfeeling between different classes of the community instead of a tolerant spirit. The reports of the inspectors for the last year showed that whilst in some places there were too many schools, in others there was not sufficient. The composition of the Denominational schools showed they did not carry out the purposes for which they were established. The League asked the people to strengthen its hands; and its treasurer he might remind the meeting that its contributions were needed to assist the cause of national education. They were quite aware that primary instruction did not comprehend the whole of education, which was to mould and fix the character. But the object of the League was to endeavour to get the Legislature to bring in some measure to increase the enrolment of children in our Public schools, do away with the wasteful system of Denominational schools, and to promote a truer national system of education.

The Rev. Dr. BARRY moved,—"That in the judgment of this meeting the inaction of Parliament in not amending the Public Schools Act, so as to render primary education more efficient and available by making it uniform, unsectarian, compulsory, and free, is increasingly detrimental to the welfare of this country." He thought that in the campaigning on this controversy, both in Parliament, amongst the public, and upon the platform, there had been too much of a polemical character between themselves and the Denominationalists. It seemed to be the opinion that the League's object was to suppress the Denominational schools as if they had some jealousy against them. No doubt that had come up incidentally, but the League's object, as had been expressly stated, was that every man, woman, and child in New South Wales should be able to read, write, and cipher. (Cheers.) That was his object, and he believed it was that of the other members of the League. This was the great object for which they had worked and sent men into Parliament. It it had been proved that Denominational schools had been the most likely to reach the children of the land, and educate them in the most effectual and cheapest way, he for one would never have been found in the ranks of any who would have barred their entrance in the slightest degree. There was no prejudice in his mind against them, though he believed there was some conscientious objection felt on the part of some of the Roman Catholics to the Denominational schools were as efficient as the Public schools, and therefore he preferred that his children should go to the Public schools. The League's whole object was to get the best and cheapest education, and it was because he thought the existence of Denominational schools was really a hindrance to that, that he opposed them. Now, supposing that they were opposed to Denominational schools, he thought, perhaps, looking at what had passed within the last few years, their best plan would be simply to fold their hands and allow them to decay. The schools were perishing by slow degrees. That was apparent year after year, as was shown by the reports of the Council of Education. They used to argue that the Church of England and Roman Catholic people did not really object to the Public schools at all, but simply that their leaders objected for them. And they said that while there were 9,000 children of England children attending the Denominational schools in 1871, there were 20,000 attending the Public schools. Well, in 1875 the number of Church of England children attending the Public schools increased to 22,719, while the number of Church of England children attending Denominational schools was reduced to 6759. Of Roman Catholic children there were in 1874, 92 attending Public schools, 3575 had increased to 10,429; 9,23 Roman Catholic children attending Denominational schools in 1874 were reduced to 4893 in 1875, so that the Roman Catholic and Church of England people were to a very large extent preferring the Public schools to their own Denominational schools. Coming now to the whole of the schools of the colony, there was an increase of 33 Public and provisional schools, whereas there was a decrease in the Denominational schools; and this decrease had been going on from year to year. There was also a decrease in the attendance at the Denominational schools of 1709 in the year, while there was an increase of 3781 children in the Public schools. Let them now take into consideration what had been done in the last session of Parliament. There was a thing that had passed that he was sorry to see they were indebted or to one who went into Parliament with the Denominational cry. Mr. Parkes—who threw off the incubus he felt to be weighing so heavily on his liberal shoulders. He proposed that the £5000 due to the Council for the building of schools was spent upon the places that required it most, and altogether independently of any tribe from the locality. The Bishop, who was himself the whole of the Denominational defence, and the only one that seemed to have an ounce of brains among them, came out at the Synod, and in reviewing the question of education, said not a word about requiring more money, but was as ignorant, or ringing in one additional soul to the schools. But the Bishop deplored this very thing which the Assembly had done in deciding that the schools shall be built for the children, and not because of the ability of any particular place to pay a certain portion of the cost. He (Dr. Barry) was sorry that there was a Public school built at all within reach of a Denominational school, he children left the Denominational school and went to the Public school. The argument had been that the Church of England and the Roman Catholics were so numerous—four-fifths of the Denominations—but yet it appeared from the Public schools report, as it was in Victoria, we should have 60,759 more children in attendance than we had. Even with what had been accomplished the people of Victoria were far from satisfied. And notwithstanding the financial deficit, the Victorian Government was borrowing more money to provide schools for the children who were flocking into them, whilst our Legislature was folding its arms and looking at the stream of ignorance of 70,000 children absolutely without education. Was not that enough to make one's blood boil? He supposed it would not do to doubt the intention of the Premier to bring in a measure to deal satisfactorily with the question. He could scarcely credit that a man who aspired to be the leader of a party and Premier of the colony would descend to such a trick. The bill, as we saw it was, was brought in, showing that they had an interest in the rising generation of the land. And it passed its second reading. Then it slipped away, because it had been introduced without a Governor's message. But why had no whisper been heard about it since. Mr. Robertson, when appealed to, had simply answered in such a way as to give no information, and to lead them to believe that so long as he could put off the question, so long he would do so. A wonderful retribution was likely to follow this state of things. A retribution had followed upon a man of much greater mental power. That was Mr. Parkes. Had Mr. Parkes said at the last election what he said in Parliament what a wonderful power he would have drawn after him. The people would have followed him to a man, and the priests would have forsaken him. But now both parties were discredited. It was left for the people to decide what should be done. He was no politician and had never either here or elsewhere taken an interest in party politics on any other occasion. But he could not see the children of the colony growing up in ignorance. And did they not think it was painful for him to stand up in antagonism to those most friendly to him—to his brother clergymen, to one especially—his Bishop, whom he had loved for many years, with a love that began in the tenderness of youth, and at whose feet he had sat as learning at the feet of Gamaliel; and for whom, in private, his affection had never been clouded by the strong words that passed on that platform or any other. But he could not stand aloof and see their children grow up in ignorance, and this colony—the richest, the proudest, the oldest, and the capital colony of Australia—lagging behind in the race of education, which was before the question of railways, harbours, ships, and commerce; for what availed wealth and physical comforts if there should come upon the colony the incubus of a vicious population,—a population that would have the ballot-box at their command, and, and yet be ignorant of the very first principles of self-government, and that would convert their very freedom and chiefest blessings into their chiefest curses. They had advanced something, at all events in the race. It was something to have had the amount of the public revenue devoted to education increased to £150,000, and further secured the provision that no money should be asked of persons wishing to have a Public school erected in their midst. He knew that the President of the Synod objected to this provision, not only on the ground he had already stated, but on the further ground that it pauperised the people by throwing them upon the Government for everything. It seemed to be forgotten upon what system Denominational schools were upheld. It was these Denominational schools that fostered what was called charity, as after the hat was sent round for their erection the people sometimes had to go as a matter of charity and ask that their children might attend free. But when the State provided the schools out of the general revenue and demanded of the city a certain duty, it counselled the citizen to make use of that right, and to fulfil that duty and to support a system that should provide universal, national, compulsory, and free education to every child in the land. (Cheers.) A man ought to pay the fees for the education of his own children. But was that the principle acted upon. On Saturday they were told of the expense that occurred to the country for each graduate of the University. He was not grudging the expense, but what was sauce for the goose was sauce for the gander. What was sauce for the rich man was sauce for the poor man. They were told that each graduate cost the country £600, besides something considerable on account of the interest for the cost of the building. Well, if the son of the rich man was not pauperised by attending the University, how could the son of the poor man be pauperised by attending the Public school, who was supported in the same way out of the general taxation. (Cheers.) The thing was utterly absurd and fallacious. They supported education that they might have the state in a wholesome condition, political and social, and that was a matter that affected every man in the community. There was no more efficient and cheap system than that which educate the children who were not educated now, and that was the system of national, secular, compulsory, and free education. (Cheers.)

Mr. J. STEWART said that, if he were there for the purpose of apologising for Parliament or excusing its inaction, he might say that it was time enough for it to act when the people had made up their mind. But he was afraid that they had not shown the Parliament that the majority were of one mind. In fact they were not of one mind—some wanted one thing, some another, and some hardly knew what they wanted. It would be well to inquire wiat they differed about. He thought they were all unanimously in favour of having the children in the primary schools taught what was called the secular part of the manifesto of the League. Numbers of the people, however, had been misled on that part by the Bishop. His grandship did not seem to know what was meant by the word secularism. Any echo Lancaster could have told him that it meant reading, writing, and arithmetic, but his lordship went to the Defence Association and told them that certain gentlemen were conspiring to introduce infidelity, communism—whatever that was—and secularism. He did not think that was a right thing to do. If the Bishop did know what the word meant, what must they think then of his conduct? Was it honest to try and make them believe something bad of CUSTOM-HOUSE.—Entered Outwards, June 26: Airolo, schooner, 149 tons, Captain Scott, for s. s. Islands; Wentworth (s.), 400 tons, Captain Paddle, for Melbourne; You Yangs (s.), 457 tons, Captain Ashford, for Melbourne; Ceres, schooner, 91 tons, Captain Kendall, for Maryborough.

The You Yangs (s.) passed through Port Phillip Heads at 7 p.m. on the 23rd instant, passed Wilson's Promontory at 6 a.m. on the 24th, rounded Gabo Island at 2.30 a.m. on the 25th, passed Cape St. George at 8.30 p.m. same date, and entered Sydney Heads at 6.30 a.m. on the 26th. Experienced light southerly and S.W. winds to Montague Island, thence to Cape St. George variable winds with heavy rain, and during the remainder of the passage N.E. and easterly winds, with thick drizzling rain.

The City of Adelaide (s.) passed Gabo Island at 4.45 p.m. on the 25th, bound south.

The Agnes Irving (s.) crossed the Clarence bar at noon yesterday. Monday, and will reach here about midnight on Tuesday, leaving for Grafton again as per advertisement.

The brig Sea Nymph left Noumea on the 15th instant; she experienced fine moderate weather and easterly winds to June 18; from that date to June 23, on which Smoky Cape was sighted, met with very heavy weather and terrific gale from the southward accompanied with thick overcast weather and heavy rains. At times the squalls blew with hurricane force, and the vessel was hove-to under the close-reefed maintopsail. From the time of sighting the land unsettled thick weather and strong easterly wind with heavy rain and squalls. Entered Sydney Heads at 7 a.m. on Monday, 26th.

The ship Ambrose took her departure from Liverpool on the 10th February, but from adverse weather was detained in the chops of the channel for 21 days. The N. E. trades proved very light, and the Equator was not crossed until 25th March, in longitude 26·30 W. The S. E. trades were taken in 4.30 a., and were lost in latitude 20 S., and were light throughout. Passed the meridian of the Cape of Good Hope on the 3rd May, in latitude 42·27 S., and from thence she reports strong winds from N. W. to S.W., her highest latitude being 46° S. Passed south of Tasmania on 14th June with strong gales from S. and W., and on the eastern coast of Australia the ship has been rounded to 36 40 hours from the heavy weather prevailing.

H. M. S. Pearl has been absent from this port some three months. She has visited Auckland, and from thence proceeded to Samoa. She then prosecuted her cruise to the Fiji group, arriving at Levuka on 5th June, and after a short stay of four days, continued her voyage for Sydney, touching at Kandavau; from the latter port she took her departure on the 18th instant, and carried fine winds and weather to the 21st instant, when strong gales set in from the southward, and continued to port.

MELBOURNE.

ARRIVALS.

June 21.—Canny Scot, Italy, Edith Haviland, from Newcastle. June 22.—Pawaroa, from New York; Lelia, from Fiji; Ann, Queensland, Wrexel Castle, Trinculo, Alexandra, Bravo, Medea, from Newcastle; Lyee-Moon (s.), from Sydney.

The Ly-ee-Moon (s.), from Sydney, which was so much admired on her former visit to this port, made her second appearance here last evening, after a smart run round, in which she has again demonstrated her fast steaming capabilities. The passengers who have come in her testify to her being a most comfortable as well as a swift boat in which to travel. Captain Stevens reports leaving Sydney at thirty-five minutes past noon on the 20th instant, and discharging the pilot at a quarter past 1 p.m., rounding the South Head at twenty-five minutes to 4 p.m., and passing Cape St. George at 8 p.m. on the same day. Gabo Island was sounded at half-past 10 a.m. on the 21st, and Wilson's Promontory at 9 a.m. yesterday. Cape Schanck being passed at twenty minutes past 4 p.m., and a stoppage being made for the pilot at half-past 5 p.m. At a quarter past 6 p.m. she went ahead full speed, passed Queenscliffe at 7 p.m., and anchored in the bay at half-past 9 p.m. After leaving Sydney light variable winds prevailed to Jervis Bay, after which fresh southerly and S.W. breezes were met with to Cape Howe, and strong S.W. winds, with sharp squalls, and a high sea thence to the Promontory. Moderate S.W. breezes and a long westerly swell marked the latter part of the passage. Some interest was taken in Sydney on this trip of the Ly-ee-Moon, and a good deal of betting was indulged in as to the probable result of her run and that of the City of Melbourne, which left the same day.—Argus, June 23.

THE INCOMING MAIL VIA SUEZ.—The whole of the New South Wales and Queensland portion of the European mail, per R. M. S. China, which reached Hobson's Bay at about 4 p.m. on Saturday, was at once transhipped to the company's branch steamer Avoca, for conveyance to Sydney. The lighter portion of the mail was not dispatched overland on this occasion, as it was thought that there was every probability of the Avoca reaching Sydney in ample time to give recipients of letters a sufficient interval to answer their correspondents. The Avoca was to have left on Saturday evening or Sunday morning; but the Government of Victoria cannot control the elements, and we now learn that the Avoca, having been detained by a dense fog, did not clear the heads till 12.46 yesterday.

SECOND ELECTRIC TELEGRAPH CABLE.—The following letter from the Postmaster-General, Queensland, received by the Premier (the Honorable John Robertson), has been kindly handed to us for publication:—"Postmaster-General's Department, Brisbane, 16th June, 1876. Sir,—In order to provide for a second electric telegraph cable and to secure, as far as possible, uninterrupted communication with the rest of the world, I have the honour to inform you, with reference to previous correspondence, that this Government is prepared to contribute towards a subsidy for an electric telegraph cable from Kimberley, Normanmouth, to Singapore, touching at such points as may be hereafter agreed upon. Contributions to be based on the relative proportion of the population of the contributing colonies. The land line to Kimberley, which was originally constructed for the purpose of connecting with a submarine cable, has been in thorough working order for some years, and has been maintained without interruption through heavy floods. This can be made immediately available, and would afford a reliable duplicate land line to connect with the proposed cable. I have, &c., (signed) GEORGE THOMAS. The Honorable the Colonial Secretary, Sydney."

AUSTRALIAN EXHIBITS AT PHILADELPHIA.—A gentleman at New York, who was at the opening of the Centennial Exhibit on, writing under date May 18 to a friend at Sydney says, in reference to the exhibits from this colony:—"The exhibits from New South Wales were the only ones from the Australian colonies, except those from Queensland, in full position for display at the opening of the Exhibition. They presented a rich and highly creditable appearance."

THE INTERNATIONAL RIFLE MATCH. — We have been requested to state that the Council of the Rifle Association of New South Wales did not consider it necessary to send a special Captain of the team, as there are two emergency men, one of whom, if required, may be selected as Captain. The reason for not appointing a special Captain was to save the expense of an additional member of the team, which is a consideration, if Parliament should refuse to vote the amount asked.

MICROSCOPICAL SECTION OF THE ROYAL SOCIETY.—The first meeting of this section was held at the society's rooms, Elizabeth-street, on the 23rd instant. The following gentlemen were elected officers:—Chairman, Alfred Roberts, M.R.C.S.; hon. secretary, Mr. G. D. Hirst; committee, Dr. Milford, Dr. Belgrave, Mr. W. Mac Donnell, Mr. H. Pattison. The chairman stated his intention of presenting the section with a collection of slides of diatoms, mounted and named by Dr. Smith, of Edinburgh; also a series of the "Microscopical Journal." It was decided that a cabinet should be procured for specimens belonging to the section. Future meetings of the section were arranged for the third Wednesday in each month.

BALMAIN MECHANICS' INSTITUTE.—In consequence of the lamented death of Mr. E. W. Cameron, the late president of the institute, a special general meeting was held at the reading-room, Darling-street, yesterday evening, to take into consideration the appointment of a successor to the office of president, and for other special business. There were about fifteen members present, and Mr. French was voted to the chair. The chairman stated that the business before the meeting was the election not only of a President, but of a Vice-President in the place of Mr. M'Kinlay, who had resigned. Mr. John Booth was unanimously elected as President. In returning thanks for his election, he stated that he would accept the office temporarily, and would do the best he could to forward the interests of the Institute. He pointed out that there was some irregularity in the mode in which the meeting had been convened, and that it would clash with the rules unless seven days' notice of the special meeting, and the business to be brought before it be duly advertised. On this suggestion the meeting was adjourned for a week, due notice thereof to be given. After the meeting concluded, and before those present dispersed, Mr. Booth stated that he and the other trustees had waited upon Mrs. Cameron to express the sympathy of the members with her in her grief for the loss of the late Mr. Cameron; and that that lady had expressed her thanks for the manner in which the expression of kindly feeling towards her had been manifested by the members, and conveyed to her by the trustees.

SYDNEY CITY MISSION.—Mr. Hodgkinson, the City Missionary for the southern district, with the assistance of some friends, gave a tea to the poor people of that district. About 250 persons partook of tea, &c., in the Mission Room, which was neatly decorated, and the walls ornamented with texts of Scripture. The good things were thoroughly enjoyed, and happiness and comfort marked the appearance of many who, by Christian influence and example now regularly attend the Sunday and mid-week services in connection with the mission. After tea several addresses, under the presidency of Major Goodlet, were delivered. The addresses of Messrs. Mills, Cresford, Houghinson, and others were interspersed with suitable hymns to the accompaniment of the new harmonium. The chairman delivered an address, suggestive of guidance and encouragement to missionary and people, and the proceedings were brought to a close by the singing of the doxology. The present mission-house is far too small, and an extension of premises, or a new church-school, is now indispensable.

WOOLLAHRA PUBLIC SCHOOL.—On Friday last the provisional committee, of which the Mayor (Mr. Barnard) is chairman, forwarded a petition to the Council of Education for the establishment of a good vested Public school in this locality. It is guaranteed that the large number of 391 children will attend, and it is thought that the Council will be glad to accede to the request at their earliest convenience.

PALMER-STREET PRESBYTERIAN SCHOOL.—Last Friday afternoon the pupils of the above school, previous to breaking up for the midwinter holidays, were presented with their annual prizes by Mr. Joseph Paxton. Several of the parents and old pupils were present, and the scholars taught by Mr. M'Cormick sang several three-part songs in an excellent manner. The school was addressed at some length by Mr Paxton. During the afternoon Mr. Paxton presented Mr. M'Cormick with a handsome volume as a small token of esteem. The lower school was mustered in the upper room with the assistant and pupil teachers, the number on the roll being 241. After three cheers for Mr Paxton, the pupils dismissed in the utmost good humour, hoping to enjoy the present vacation.

ST. SILAS' WATERLOO DAY SCHOOL. — An entertainment—consisting of vocal music and recitations by the pupils, and the exhibition of drawings and needle-work—was given on Thursday evening, 22nd instant. The school-room was filled by a large audience, and every one seemed well pleased with the manner in which the children acquitted themselves. The specimens of drawing and needle-work were both numerous and well executed, and the visitors manifested much interest in their inspection. At the close of the programme, a large number of valuable books were presented to the scholars, in a kindly manner, by the incumbent of the parish, the Rev. J. N. Manning. At the instance of the chairman, a hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the master of the school, for the pleasant entertainment that had been presented to the visitors; and the proceedings were brought to a close by the National Anthem being sung by the audience and the scholars, and with the benediction by the rev. chairman, all present having spent a most enjoyable evening.

TRAMWAY TO THE LACHLAN AND BACK COUNTRY.—The feeling that there ought to be better communication than at present between Hay and the back country is almost universal at Hay, and the Riverine Grazier believes that the squatters north of Hay would heartily fall in with any feasible scheme to attain this object. It is thought that a light iron railway to carry light waggons drawn by horses would answer all requirements for many years to come, and could be made cheaper than any other form of road. The difficulty at times of getting up stores is almost insuperable.

UNIVERSITY COMMEMORATION.—Amongst the graduates who were announced in yesterday's paper as having taken the M.A. degree, for R. Day read "R. Kay."

DRUNK OR SOBER?—Messrs. Hunt and Davies were occupied the whole of yesterday forenoon in investigating a charge of drunkenness. The accused indignantly denied the charge, and Mr. Driver conducted his defence. Besides the evidence of the apprehending constable, two constables and two sergeants were called as witnesses for the prosecution. Mr. Driver called three witnesses in reply, and just before 1 o'clock the Justices decided against the police and discharged the accused.

BLAYNEY.—Writing on the 22nd June, the correspondent of the Bathurst Free Press says:—A rather serious accident happened lately to Mr Yates, who is a contractor on the railway works, near Reedy Creek, about six miles east of Blayney. While drawing a charge which had been prepared for blasting, but had failed to explode when fired, it suddenly blew up, and the displaced stones struck Mr. Yates about the breast and head, inflicting some ugly cuts on the head, and breaking two ribs. Mr. J. Lee, storekeeper, of Victoria Creek, on the Bathurst road, was taken suddenly ill while engaged grinding an axe on Wednesday last, and before any professional aid could be obtained expired. It was found that death was caused by disease of the heart.—We had our first fall of snow on Friday night last. It commenced to fall about 11 p.m., and several showers of sleet and snow fell through the night, and on Saturday the housetops and hills were white with the feathery flakes. Since then we have had very sharp frosts at night and clear days, with a keen wind.

DEATH BY STRYCHNINE.—An inquest was held at Tarcutta on the 23rd instant (reports the Wagga Advertiser) by the District Coroner, Mr. F. A. Tompsan, touching the death of Robert Sims, who was found dead in the cell of the Tarcutta lock-up, on the morning of Thursday, the 22nd instant. Michael King, constable of police, being sworn, identified the body as that of Robert Sims, a fruit-hawker, of Wagga, whom he first saw at Mundarlo on Wednesday, the 21st instant, when he arrested the deceased on suspicion of stealing a horse then in his possession; constable Glenfield was with him (witness), and after satisfying themselves that a horse the deceased was feeding at the Mundarlo public-house was the animal reported as stolen, they apprehended the deceased, who appeared as though he had taken a little too much drink, but was only a little merry; when they were examining the horse's brands, the deceased suddenly threw himself on the ground, and behaved like a drunken man; after apprehending deceased they put him into his own cart, and attempted to go on to Tarcutta lockup; as they could not get along with the cart, they took it back to the public-house, and endeavoured to get the deceased to ride, which he refused to do, and so they brought him on in the Albury coach; while waiting for the coach at Mundarlo he appeared cold, and by witness's advice he sat at the fire and warmed himself; he never spoke on the way from Mundarlo to Tarcutta, and when they arrived there he jumped out of the coach and accompanied him (witness) and constable Glenfield to the lockup; they then searched his body, as they thought the deceased might have had something about him by which he had poisoned himself, and found the phial produced. Dr. Wren was examined, and deposed to having made a post-mortem examination of the body, and finding some granules in the stomach corresponding with the substance in the phial. He believed this to be strychnine, and from the presence of the granules in the stomach, and the rigidity of the limbs, he believed that death resulted from poisoning by strychnine. The jury returned a verdict accordingly, adding that they believed the police exercised every precaution in searching the deceased.

ESCAPE OF A PRISONER FROM ORANGE GAOL.—On the 21st instant (reports the Western Examiner) the people of Orange were somewhat startled on hearing that one of the prisoners named William Greenwood, who was in custody on a charge of stealing a saddle and bridle off a horse's back while standing in front of Messrs. Dalton's store at noonday, and who was under remand for further evidence, made his escape from gaol. The acting gaoler, Mr. Brooke, who had been up during the three previous nights, and was worn out by watching over his family (three of whom are ill in bed, suffering from the prevailing epidemic, scarlet fever), had just lain down in his clothes about the time when the warders, Taylor and Kelly, were to come on day duty. The warder Taylor, on his arrival at half-past 6 o'clock, in accordance with the regulations opened the cells and let out the prisoners into the yard, directing Greenwood to put his cell in order. From the peculiar construction of the place the door of the cell concealed the corridor leading from the cells to the gaoler's private sitting-room, through which, alone, ingress is had between the prison and the courthouse yard. The warder, aware of the character of the man, kept close to the cell door, but at the same time had to keep in view the prisoners in the yard, lest any of them should take it into their heads to escape over the fence by the steps which are against it, and which a person could do in an instant. The door between the corridor and the gaoler's room already mentioned was closed with the usual fastening (which, however, is not a lock and key), and the prisoner, who had been several times taken out through that door, when about to be examined, while under remand, must have observed the mode of opening it, and also observed the fact that the lock on the outer door is a draw-lock, to which there is no key, but a bolt. The prisoner, knowing this, made a dart to the door from his cell, and, in his hurry to open it, made so much noise as to attract the attention of the warder, who immediately made towards him, but Greenwood had already got through, and, before the warder could get through the door after him, egress through the outer door was effected. To pursue the prisoner after he had got into the courthouse yard, which is open to the street, before he had secured the doors of this passage to prevent the escape of other prisoners, eight men and one woman, he returned and closed them, at the same time giving the alarm to Mr. Brooke, who was immediately on his feet. Just as the prisoner got into the yard he met warder Kelly coming to resume duty. The latter, seeing what had taken place, sprang at the prisoner, who, however, was too active for Kelly, and ran up Lord's-place towards the bush behind Mr. Windred's house, using the same cry as the warder who pursued him—"Police! stop thief!" The few that were then about were so bewildered as to where or who the thief was that no one made any effort to arrest the prisoner in his flight. Warder Kelly, who is an elderly person, was soon left so far behind that he gave up the chase as useless after the man got into the bush paddock. Information was immediately given to the horse police, who happened to be then in bed, and within five minutes from the time the alarm was given the men were in the saddle starting in pursuit of the fugitive, who up to the present time has not been captured.

PICNIC.—On Saturday last, Mr. Richard Edward O'Connor was entertained by a number of his friends at a picnic in honour of his having been called to the Bar of this colony. The cold morning appeared unfavourable for a day's outing, but notwithstanding at noon—the time appointed—the steam launch Nautilus took up her position at the Prince's Stairs, and shortly after Mr. O'Connor's friends and their guest embarked and started for their destination where they arrived a few minutes after 1 o'clock. Once on terra firma old and young threw off their coats and commenced most spiritedly the game of football until Josselyn's bell rang for luncheon. From the effects of the sharp air crossing the Heads, and the exercise of the game on the ground their appetites were thoroughly whetted to do justice to the good cheer so amply and tastefully provided for them. After the usual loyal toasts had been disposed of, the health of "Our Guest," was proposed, and Mr. O'Connor responded in an eloquent and able speech. The health of "Mr. O'Connor, sen.," was then proposed, and hailed with applause. His son suitably acknowledged the toast. The health of "The Ladies" was proposed, and responded to; then that of "The Chairman," and the company, after walking round the grounds, returned to Sydney at a little after 5 o'clock, after a very enjoyable day.

THEATRE ROYAL.—"Pygmalion and Galatea" was repeated yesterday evening, and went very smoothly. The audience, owing probably to the weather, was not as large as might have been anticipated; but those present evinced great satisfaction with the performance, the applause being constant, and the humour of the piece greatly enjoyed. Miss Eleanor Carey's finished and artistic delineation of the title rôle entirely won the sympathies of the audience, and she was lavishly cheered. The dissolving effect at the termination of the drama was not improved, and the purpose would be much better answered by allowing Galatea to appear in a double sense in statu quo; that is as presented at the commencement of the piece.

VICTORIA THEATRE.—At this house "Fritz" still continues the attraction, and Mr. Emmet's amusing impersonation seems to have lost none of its favour with his audiences.

SCHOOL OF ARTS.—The United States Minstrels' entertainment was well attended again yesterday evening and passed off with entire success; all the various songs, dances, negro farces, &c., being much appreciated.

NEW PATENT GAS BURNERS.—We abstract the following from an English periodical:—"To the key or tap of an ordinary gas burner is affixed a flattened cylindrical chamber of about the diameter of a shilling, with narrow, elongated vent or conduit rising parallel with the burner, and extending nearly to the nozzle. In this chamber, which is fitted with a small spring hammer, also connected with the key, is placed a coil of percussion tape, issuing through the before-mentioned vent. By the simple turning on of the gas in the usual way the little hammer is made to strike one of the pellets on the tape close to the nozzle of the burner, and the faint spark resulting instantaneously ignites the issuing stream of gas. The flame is extinguished of course by the same backward action of the key, which checks the flow of the gas. As long as the tape lasts, which in the case of a burner used every day is usually about three months, the owner is independent of matches or fire, and when the coil is exhausted it may be renewed for the moderate cost of one penny, or the burner may be lit in the ordinary way. Neither danger nor uncertainty attends the working of the mechanism. The little hammer never fails to ignite the fuse or tape which fires the gas, and the fuse itself throws off neither spark nor ash. Its practical uses are obviously considerable, and for all establishments where ease, safety, and rapidity of lighting are desired, as in hotels, theatres, concert halls, and other places of public resort, it will prove a great boon. Although, as we have said, an American invention, the self-lighting burner is now being largely manufactured by the patentees, Messrs. Turner and Co., of Regent-place, Birmingham."

WESLEYAN CHURCH SUSTENTATION AND EXTENSION SOCIETY.

THE annual meeting of the Wesleyan Church Sustentation and Extension Society was held last night in the Wesleyan Church, York-street. The attendance was very small, in consequence, no doubt, of the inclemency of the weather.

Mr. JOHN DAWSON was voted to the chair, and in a few pertinent remarks he explained the object for which the meeting was called, and the usefulness of the Sustentation and Extension Society, and said that, owing to the limited attendance, the meeting would be almost of a formal character.

The Secretary, Rev. GEORGE HURST, read the following report:—

The Seventeenth Report of the New South Wales Wesleyan Methodist Church Sustentation and Extension Society, 1875.

The income of the society from all sources for 1875 is £3178 5s. 1d.

The voluntary contributions from the circuits amount to £1523 15s. 2d., an increase of £140 12s. 1d., and a larger sum than has been obtained in any previous year.

While the committee are grateful for this result, and present their cordial thanks to those by whose exertions it has been secured, they feel it to be their duty again to call attention to the very defective organization which undoubtedly exists in many circuits, and they earnestly hope that this defect will at once be removed by those in whose hands the matter lies. The committee can see no reason, either in the principles and operations of the society, or in purely local claims, why this evil should any longer exist, and they believe that their view is in accord with that which is generally entertained on this subject in all the circuits. Prompt, vigorous, and sustained action is the one thing to be desired in this matter. The committee are fully satisfied, that both ministers and people are deeply convinced of the great value of this society to the Methodist Church in all parts of the country, because by it they have been stimulated and assisted in every department of church work; and it is hoped, that both the clergy and the laity will bring their action into perfect harmony with their convictions. Let active collectors be appointed in every place, the annual sermons preached, and the public meetings held, at those times when they are most likely to be successful.

By the aid of this society, many churches, adapted, both in architecture and size, to the needs of the Methodist church in the present day, have been built; many respectable and commodious parsonages have been erected; many weak circuits have been assisted; and many new ones have been formed; but in all these branches of church-work very much still remains to be done. Many churches which exist are unsuitable in size and style, and they should give place to others more in accordance with the requirements of the present age; while in many places, in which the Wesleyan ministry is successfully exercised, no church of any kind exists. Some circuits have no parsonages, and they are checked in their advancement by the burden of rent. Calls for the Wesleyan ministry are constantly made from many parts of the country into which we ought to enter, but cannot for the want of funds, and the Church is obliged to have many in spiritual destitution for whom she would gladly care. To meet all these wants, increased funds are greatly needed; but the committee are sure that, were the society properly worked in every place, these funds, to a great extent, would be supplied.

Three young ministers have been received from the British Conference during the year, but they have only partially supplied the most urgent requirements of our Church to meet its many calls for extension. An additional minister has been appointed to the Newtown circuit, to reside at Stanmore, where he is doing good service in connection with the new church, and another has been sent to Wallsend where a new church is being erected in the midst of a large and an increasing population. Application was also made for an additional minister for the Ashfield circuit, to reside at Burwood, and another was urgently required for Paddington in connection with the new church being built there; but the Conference had no minister to send. It is very important that both these places should be supplied as soon as possible. Districts, also, in the interior, have earnestly requested to be supplied with ministers, whose application will be granted as soon as efficient men can be procured.

The Sydney district has raised in voluntary contributions, £767 18s. 5d.; the Bathurst district, £170 8s. 8d.; the Maitland district, £146 16s. 4d.; the Armidale district, £81 11s. 11d.; and the Goulburn district, £144 5s. 10d.; showing that the amount raised in the Sydney district is £232 1os. 8d. more than the amount raised in all the other districts.

The Sydney district has received grants to the amount of £768 4s 6d or £21 14s 8d less than it has contributed, and the other districts have received £1446 16s 6d or £721 13s 3d more than they have contributed.

THE LOAN FUND.

At the last meeting of the committee in March, 1876, loans to the amount of £4165 were sanctioned, but the committee had only £1075 to grant. Nearly the same facts had to be dealt with at the meeting for loans in September 1875. As a matter of course, many trustees not able to obtain loans, would be disappointed. This the committee much regret; but they could only vote the money they had, dealing with the most urgent cases. Were all instalments, however, promptly paid by the trustees who have obtained loans, many more applications for a loan would be granted at the time it is made, and our church property much more rapidly relieved from debt.

The following loans were offered during the year:—To the trustees of the Denikquin church £200 for seven years, on condition that they first raise £50; to the trustees of the Queanbeyan church, £100 for four years, on condition that all other debts be paid; to the trustees of the Kiama parsonage, £400 for seven years, on condition that they raise £200 before the next June; £300 to the trustees of the Hill End Church £100 for five years, provided that all other debts be first paid; to the trustees of the York-street Church £400 for five years, on condition that all other debts be first paid; to the trustees of the Mudgee church property £375, making with the loan they now have, £900 for ten years, on condition that they raise £200 towards the reduction of debt on the Gulgong church and parsonage, and clear off all other debts on the Mudgee trust; and £100 to the trustees of the Rockypointchurch for four years, on condition that all other debts be first paid.

Furniture Grants.—Tenterfield, £19; Grafton, £40; Inverell, £5; Lower Clarence, £50; and Bellingen, £40.

Parsonage Grants.—Mount Lachlan, £25; Windsor, £100; Lower Hawkesbury, £100; Mudgee, £80; Lower Clarence, £75; Adelong, £100; and Young, £100.

Church Grants.—Paddington, £150; Windsor, £150; Spring Hill, £25; Gulgong, £125; West Maitland, £100; Wallsend, £100; Armidale, £20.

Circuit Grants.—Sydney district: St. Leonards, £22 16s 4d; Penrith, £17 2s 4d; Camden, £35 4s 8d; Illawarra, £34 4s 8d; Moruya, £56 13s 8d; Newtown (special), £50; and Bombala, £27 7s 1d. Bathurst district: Parkes, £28 4s. Maitland district: Morpeth, £30; and Dunnow, £40 4s 4d. Armidale district: Tenterfield, £28 14s 8d; Inverell, £33 14s 3d; Tamworth, £28 14s 3d; and Lower Clarence, £28 14s 8d. Goulburn district: Crookwell, £40; Yass, £25; Braidwood, £35; Mittagong, £30; and Queanbeyan, £34 4s.

Permission has been given to improve the church in Newtown at a cost of £600; to build a new church in Windsor; to erect a new church at Wallsend; a stone church has been built at Burrawang, cost £345; a weatherboard church at Robertson, cost £131; a zinc church at Brundale, cost £50; a weatherboard church at Greta, cost £140; a brick church at Cowdroy, cost £310; a stone church at Dennis Island, cost £472; a stone church at Spring Hill, cost £600; a slab church at Collingwood, cost £15; a brick church at Bubbo, cost £485; a brick church at Jendalee, is in course of erection, cost £270; the church at Mummulli has been improved, cost £190; permission has been given to build a church at Telegraph, at Jones' Island, and at Woolla Woolla.

Permission has been given to erect a parsonage at Windsor, and at Rocky Mouth. A Parsonage has been built at Mittagong, cost £345; and one is in course of erection at Adelong, cost £600.

Sites have been purchased at Burwood and at Manly Beach, and at Manly an adjoining allotment has been given by Mr. Sadlit; quarter of an acre has been given at Telegraph by Mr. David Bishop; quarter acre at Woolla Woolla by Mr. John Cybats; quarter acre at Jones' Island by Mr. James Eggins; and quarter acre at Mulgoada by A. Richardson.

In conclusion the committee once more earnestly and confidently commend this society to the Methodist people in all parts of the country. All are assisted by the society, and the committee solicit help from all. It is only just that those whose wants have been liberally supplied should contribute liberally to meet the pressing necessities of others. But, also, on the higher ground of duty to God and to the people, the committee urge their appeal. Many places now anxiously waiting for ministers must be supplied and many more churches, parsonages, and Sunday-schools must be erected, or the people will fail in their duty to Christ, and to the land in which they live. Not only is money wanted, but also men of the true apostolic spirit are urgently required; and while the committee plead for funds, they would also urge the whole Church fervently and believingly to pray, "that the Lord of the harvest would send forth labourers into His harvest."

The Rev. J. A. NOLAN, moved, and the Rev. G. HURST seconded, the following resolution, which was passed unanimously:—"That the report now read be adopted and printed; and that this meeting present its hearty thanks to God for the success which He has graciously given to this society during the past year, both in the support and extension of the means of grace in all parts of the land."

The Rev. G. WOOLNOUGH moved, and the Rev. W. E. BOURNE, seconded the following resolution, which was also carried unanimously:—"That, considering the great spiritual necessities of large masses of the population of this colony, and the numerous and urgent calls for the establishment of the Wesleyan ministry, and for the building of Wesleyan churches in many parts of the country, this meeting resolves energetically to support this society not only by pecuniary assistance, but also by fervent prayer that the great spiritual purposes of the society may be accomplished; and it now commends the society to the liberal and prayerful support of the whole Methodist people."

Votes of thanks were accorded to the executive and local committees, the officers of the society, and the collectors, and also to the chairman, and the meeting was then brought to a close.

CONCLUSION OF THE STEVENSON CASE.—The trial of Mr. George Stevenson, of the firm of L. Stevenson and Sons, and Messrs. Brind, Wilkinson, Macfarlane, and Macnamara, charged with assaulting and resisting Customs officers while in the execution of their duty, was concluded at the Melbourne Central Criminal Court on the 22nd instant. The Argus says that his Honor Mr. Justice Fellows, in summing up, withdrew all the law points from the jury as matters for the decision of the Supreme Court in case of a verdict of guilty. As to the facts of the case, he told the jury they had not to consider at all whether any frauds had been committed on the Customs. If Mr. Guthrie had reasonable cause for believing, and did believe, that such frauds had been going on, and that his duty as an officer of Customs required him to enter and search Mr. Stevenson's warehouse, he was there in the execution of his duty. As to the first assault on the Customs officers, Gordon and Dawson, his Honor directed the jury that, if they had even been quietly put out of the warehouse without any violence whatever, the assault was committed. He also said that though the jury did not believe that Wilkinson had struck Mr. Guthrie with the piece of wood from the door, if they believed that he pushed him, that was sufficient to convict the defendant of an assault. The jury retired at twenty minutes to 6 o'clock, and at a few minutes past 8 returned with a verdict of not guilty on all the counts of the presentment. There was a great demonstration of applause in court when the foreman (Mr. W. W. Shelley) announced the verdict, and the defendants were loudly cheered as they left the court. The court was densely thronged, and the cheers were deafening, and continued for nearly a minute. When the crowd got outside the precincts of the court they indulged in three hearty cheers for Mr. Stevenson and the other defendants, and three groans for the informer Trowell and the Government.

CONSIDERATIONS IN SUPPORT OF APPRENTICE BILL.

WE insert the following suggestions at the request of a correspondent. They will be taken, therefore, as conveying the views of the writer simply and of those others who support the bill:—

1. By the Imperial enactment, 9 G. IV. c. 83, s. 35 (still in force), any young man of 18, 19, or 20 may bind himself in England to serve an employer here for seven years. 2. By the Lands Amendment Act, any lad of sixteen or more may take land and make any amount of binding contracts in respect of it, however foolish. 3. In each case, the lad need not have the consent of his parent. The law enables the boy, in the one case, and the man, in the other, thus to make contracts, although under age, which will bind him after twenty-one—the enactments saying nothing as to the parent's assent. 4. By the common law, any lad of 14 can bind himself for seven years; and there is no authority for holding the parents' consent is necessary, although it is usual. 5. But, by the proposed Act, no lad of 17, 18, or 19, however anxious to learn the business, and to become an apprentice, can be bound without his parents' express approval, and the indenture must contain a covenant by the master to teach him that business.

Let this Apprentice Bill, then, be compared with any of the previous laws, and say which most deserves support.

If a boy or man under 21 can bind himself in the way mentioned—even if only 14 up to 18—under existing laws, why may not one of 16 or more equally bind himself under the proposed law? At 16 or 17, advised by his parent, he is assuredly more likely to enter into a beneficial contract than under either of the statutes cited, or at the common law.

Supposing, then, that a lad of (say) 17 enters deliberately into such a contract, extending (ex. gr. to 23, the first question to be considered is, ought he to be allowed to break it when he becomes 21? Would not this be to encourage fraud? The second question is, whether employers ought not to be encouraged to take educated youths of 17, rather than lads of 14 or 15; and bring them up to remunerative trades, &c.? Few employers will run the risk of taking and instructing lads, say for five years, and finding them at the end of the fourth, or perhaps third, year quit the service, when perhaps just becoming useful to the employer.

Finally, the measure is simply an enabling one. It cannot therefore possibly do harm. A parent will never be a party (we may be well assured) to a bargain for his son extending up to 23, unless both be satisfied that it is for the advantage of one or both of them. And if they do enter into such a contract with that impression, the law which allows it to be broken just when it may suit the son to do so ought on every ground to be abrogated.

THE SALE OF POISONS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

SIR,—In common with many of my fellow citizens, both lay and legal, I read the unwelcome intelligence contained in the letter of "A Barrister," in your impression of Friday, with much regret. So we are still to incur the risk of buying strychnine for Epsom salts, white arsenic for flour, and all the other dangers and inconveniences inseparable from the permitted sale of poisons by persons incapable of distinguishing them. And all this, and much more, we are to endure because at the first breath of criticism a pusillanimous Government takes alarm, and loses the courage of its own convictions. Verily, it is time this state of things came to an end. Like many other citizens, I had hoped that the comparatively long period of political sunshine his Excellency's present Opposition had formerly basted in would have reconciled them to a reasonably long enjoyment of the equally honourable, though, perhaps, less profitable constitutional position of Parliamentary critics and improvers, functions as necessary in the political fabric of a constitutional country as they are intelligible.

This, however, was another "little misconception" on my part. The idea of this position held by the leaders of the Opposition and the gentlemen who act with them appears to be that they are at liberty to bully Ministers at pleasure, in season and out of season, to cry, Wolf! wolf! when lambs only are in the paddock; to decry any measure they opponents may advocate, and to proportion the vehemence of their resistance to the utility and necessity of the measure, and the degree of favour it may meet with from the general public.

The rule of conduct animating the leaders appears to influence the general tone of the House; and the out

PRIZES FOR SEWING-MACHINES.

It is possible for the proprietors of any manufacture to exhibit and boast of a great number of prizes, which, after all, have no meaning beyond a certain date. Prizes obtained years ago are of no use, as speaking of the RELATIVE merit of the manufacture which won them and others placed in competition with them SINCE those prizes were obtained. The latter may have entirely superseded in merit the one which, IN ITS DAY, superseded all others.

There are several old pattern sewing-machines in the market, absolutely over-weighted with medals and honours, and deservedly so, because when they obtained those honours they were A1; but these very machines have recently been so completely defeated by the "Wanzer F" as to be afraid to compete again.

Supposing two makes of sewing-machines, X and Y, hold fifty prizes each and then a new machine, Z, comes to the fore, and on two or three successive occasions defeats X and Y in open competition, does not the new machine virtually absorb all the honours obtained by the old machines? X and Y were very good IN THEIR DAY, just as a swift runner like Frank Hewitt was until he met Watson. Hewitt WAS best, but Watson is better. At the end of 1874, at Canada, and in March last (1876), at Chili, South America, "the "Wanzer F" defeated the Singer, the Wheeler and Wilson, the Thomas, the Howe, &c., &c., and any one who honestly sets aside prejudice and examines the various machines, can EASILY SEE WHY the "Wanzer F" defeated the Singer, the Wheeler and Wilson, the Thomas, the Howe, &c., &c. The reasons are—1st, By its new cross action it makes no noise: 2nd, The winder is entirely separate from the machine, saving just half the wear, i.e., a machine will last twice as long as one without it, and the bobbins can be filled while work is in the machine; 3rd, It has reversible action, by which the work passes from or towards the operator as desired by her. This machine was exhibited at the recent Sydney Exhibition (April 1876), and, of course, defeated all machines whose agents had courage enough to send them for competition.

The "WANZER F," the premier Family Treadle machine of the world, £9 9s.

The "WANZER A," a newer machine even than the "F," is perfection itself as a machine for hand or treadle use. It is much the strongest hand machine yet constructed, and produces a beautiful stitch on anything from muslin to leather. Price, £5.

The "LITTLE WANZER," the Prize Hand Machine of the World. Price, £4 10s.

POWELL'S BALSAM OF ANISEED, for Coughs, Asthma, Bronchitis, &c.—Testimonial from the Rev. W. Lush, Vicar of Stixwold, and Editor of the REMEMBRANCER:—

"Stixwold Vicarage, Horncastle, Lincolnshire.

"Dear Sir,—I have to acknowledge with my warmest thanks the receipt of a large bottle of your truly valuable Balsam of Aniseed for the benefit of my poor parishioners. I need hardly say, in the face of winter, how truly acceptable such a present is. For the past twelve years I have been in the habit of using myself, giving away, and recommending your Balsam. I should not be exaggerating if I said I have never known it fail. Whenever I have a cough I use it in preference to anything else, and again and again it has cured me.

"I am fully aware, and you, my dear sir, would, I feel sure, equally with myself, recognise the fact, that we are dependent on the use of all means on Him whose blessing maketh rich, but I rejoice that so often He has seen good to add that blessing to the use of Powell's Balsam of Aniseed.

"I remain, my dear Sir, &c., &c.,
"WILLIAM LUSH."

IMPORTANT TESTIMONIAL.

"Dear Sir,—I may tell you that I have used your Balsam for a very long time (both for myself and my family). I think it an invaluable medicine for members of my profession, and have always strongly recommended it to my brother and sister artists. If you think a testimonial from me would be of any service, you are very welcome to make use of this.

"I am, dear Sir, yours truly,
"LIONEL BROUGH, Globe Theatre."

for
CHILDREN CUTTING TEETH.

CAUTION TO PURCHASERS.

The value of this well-known Family Medicine has been largely tested in all parts of the world, and by all grades of society, for upwards of FIFTY YEARS. Its well-earned extensive sale has induced SPURIOUS IMITATIONS, some of which IN OUTWARD APPEARANCE so closely resemble the original as to have deceived many purchasers. The proprietor, therefore, feels it due to the public to give a special caution against the use of such imitations.

Purchasers are, therefore, requested carefully to observe the four following distinctive characteristics, without which none are genuine:—

1. In every case the words JOHN STEEDMAN, Chemist, Walworth, Surrey, are engraved on the Government stamp affixed to EACH PACKET.
2. Each SINGLE POWDER has directions for the dose, and the words John Steedman, chemist, Walworth, Surrey, painted thereon.
3. The name Steedman is always spelt with two EE's.
4. The manufacture is carried on solely at Walworth, Surrey.

Sold in packets by all Chemists and Medicine Vendors, at 1s 1½d and 2s 9d each.

COAL CLIFF ESTATE.
Stanwell Park,
NEAR BULLI,
about thirty miles from Port Jackson.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, Sydney, on MONDAY, 3rd July, at 11 o'clock,
This valuable mineral estate, divided into four lots, as follows:—
LOT 1.—This lot comprises the whole of LEWIS GORDON'S GRANT OF 150 ACRES, to which is added an OCEAN FRONTAGE OF ABOUT 600 FEET, taken from lot 2, as far as the entrance to Coal Cliff Harbour.

LOT 2.—This lot comprises nearly the whole of Lewis Gordon's grant of 175 acres, excepting thereout the ocean frontage and reef of 600 feet included in lot 1, and also excepting out of this lot the 20 acres included in lot 3. The two inside frontages of the Coal Cliff Harbour, containing two frontages of 300 feet each at the western end of the harbour, were leased in 1873 for 50 years to Messieurs Stuart and Co. at the nominal rent of £1 per annum for seven years, then at £100 per annum for seven years, and then at £200 per annum for the residue of the said term of 50 years.
 Lots 1 and 2 will be sold together, if desired.

LOT 3.—This lot consists of a commodious dwelling-house and about 20 acres bounded by the Government Road round Coal Cliff on the West and South, by Coal Cliff Creek on the North, and by the Pacific Ocean on the East, where the frontage, 300 feet in length, and 8 feet above high water mark upon the Flat Rock of the Coal Cliff Harbour, affords perfect facilities for a movable jetty or landing stage, or other proper and easy communication with the steamboats during Westerly weather, as shown in the large plan.

LOT 4.—This lot consists of two hundred acres of land, part of Gibbon's grant, bounded by lots 2 and 3 on the south; by Messieurs STUART and CO.'S MINERAL SELECTIONS on the west; by the STANWELL PARK ESTATE on the north; and by the Pacific Ocean on the east. This lot includes about forty acres of valuable CLAY IRON ORE, containing 38 per cent. METALLIC IRON, outcropping on the cliffs eight hundred feet above high-water mark, and above the five seams of coal, which are proved to underlie the whole of the Coal Cliff Estate.

☞ The SIX-FOOT SEAM of COAL worked at both the WOLLONGONG MINES, also at BULLI, and now used by H. M. NAVY and all the LARGE OCEAN-GOING STEAMERS leaving Port Jackson, runs UNDER EVERY ACRE of these four lots of land, and is seen NEAR THE SEA LEVEL. It can either be shipped from the COAL CLIFF HARBOUR or by RAILWAY, when completed, to Sydney.
A large plan of all the above lots, distinguishing the shipping frontages as apportioned to each lot, may be inspected at the Rooms.
Detailed particulars of each lot, lithographed plans of the estate and of the South Coast Road from Sydney to Coal Cliff, may be had upon application to the Auctioneers, to R. W. Robberds, Esq., solicitor, 139, Castlereagh-street, Sydney, at the office of the ILLAWARRA MERCURY, Wollongong; or at Messrs. Gordon and Gotch, Melbourne.
